[Farm continued.]

To attain such noble, useful purposes, our beloved Order is organized and maintained; it strikes at no religious sentiment, but encourages in every way the worship of God, by preventing and ennobling the human heart. It should seek no political power, and should aim to overthrow none; but, on the contrary, should practise submission to law as promoting good order and safety. It should shield no crime; but prevent it by teaching and encouraging virtue and morality. It goes hand in hand with civilization, and wherever the foundations of States and Cities are laid, there it builds its temples and links the the new made State in its emblems.

To us as a people, hss been left the task of inaugurating commerce, civilization and enlightenment in our vicinity. And on these plains, to-day, we meet in this Temple of our noble Order and follow the fundamental principles of its origin. Our act in erecting this Lodge is but the index finger pointing to a glorious future. Hand in hand with religeon, enterprise and power, others will labor in this field of Temperance eventually in Utah, until other temples will be reared, until solitude here shall cease, until polygamy shall be abolished, and in their places, the unceasing hum of industry, the chime of the school bell and the praises of the grateful shall be forever heard. While we thus act, how many thousand reasons we will all have for gratitude. Whilst we are laying, as a people, the foundation of a new era for Utah, while we are cementing a social and commercial society, initiating a tide of lasting prosperity, developing the mineral resources of the country, and rearing our Lodges of Good Templars, strife and discord are wounding and striking to the hearts the lives of other nations and even of our own.

In our own fair and happy land what do we behold? Saddest of all earthly things—civil war in the most cruel and powerful proportions. The blaze of hostile cannon, the ascending smoke of fields of carnage, the unending procession of the dying; all tell a tale of horror so bitter that the soul turns in dread from the contemplation of the scene.

The events of the past four years will frame pages of the most interesting National history ever penned for the perusal of the people of the world. An unholy, unrighteous rebellion has laid waste a vast rich portion of our once happy and prosperous country—it has bereft many a home of happiness, comfort and the real necessaries of life—has severed the most hallowed of earthly ties in more than one family circle—has made desolate the hearts of many widows and orphans—has buried beneath the sod many a noble, brave and heroic man—has draped many a mansion, as well as humble abodes with the sad habiliments of mourning—has showed us the power of the hand of Providence in wrath for our iniquities as a people of which we to-day, stand guilty, and I trust, repentant—has cost our National Treasury millions of dollars, and has extracted from our people resources almost beyond endurance or even imagination. It has on the other hand produced to the world the best, most competent and determined Generals—the largest armies of brave men—the most improved weapons of warfare—the best and most efficient navy, and the most thorough, staunch and faithful patriotism the world ever saw. What has been and what will be the foundation, action and result? Union—union of sentiment—union of thought—union of action. In no unimaginable light, do we of Garrison Lodge, or rather, of the I. O. of G. T. stand side by side with the glorious and fame renowned armies of the Union. Our, at first, seeming unconquerable and formidable foe—Intemperance, with King Alcohol for its Commander-in-chief, met our every attack, our every charge, our every reconnoisance, our every scout and our every bombardment with the most powerful and baneful army that ever man has, or that ever man will contend with, viz: "popular opinion and general ridicule." We assailed them and were at every point defeated—we renewed our attack and were again foiled—we changed our base, alias "McClellan," with no better success—the enemy carried the day—they had an unbounded and affianced love for their General—they clung to him with all the tenacity of an insatiable appetite—they heralded him with joy even in their dying gasps—they cherished him as their hope, their happiness, their all. We with our force gradually withdrew from active service in the immediate field and resorted to the (in our case) more effectual mode of warfare—gentleness and moral suasion. We at once organized armies and drill-rooms—thoroughly renovated and organized our battalions, brigades, and corps—placed efficient and never faltering Generals in command—published our tactics to the world—framed our Constitution—drafted our regime of action and went forth shouldered with the muskets of Temperance, our cannon loaded with the shells of total abstinence—our bayonets pointed with teetotalism—our sabres edged with moral reform, and our cartridges charged with thorough reformation. Stars and bars were emblazoned upon the shoulders of our officers, signifying honor, integrity and brotherly love; while Faith, Hope and Charity weare the medals worn upon the heart. We dispatched Commissioners to every part of the Union with instructions to confer with our enemies. We met our opposers face to face—we labored long and earnestly—we adhered to every feature of our administration—we co-operated one with the other—we obeyed orders, and at last we conquered.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 16, 1863.

The Victims of Polygamy.

When Earth was called into existence from the bosom of Chaos and fashioned it, for human habitation, by processes known only to the great First Cause. Instinct with life, it leaped from the impelling hand of the Creator, but not until man stood forth, clothed in the majesty of his Maker and conscious of his mission, with one woman to bear him companionship in dominion—the queen of a virgin world.

Nothing could be more perfect than the picture thus presented, its clear outlines illuminated in the dawning light of time, everything harmonious and complete. Conscious Nature, obeying the Divine idea, has never deviated from the lesson thus taught, but preserved the numerical equality of the sexes through all the changes of uncounted centuries.

Marriage is the natural condition of man and womankind, the sanctuary of virtue, the security of human happiness, but whatever alters the original design of Deity therein only mars its beauty and destroys its symmetry. Still, however its hallowed purpose may be perverted to unholy uses, woman clings to man in the fulfillment of her destiny with a devotion which wins, as it deserves, from all better natures the reward of tender and unselfish consideration. This central impulse of womanly faith is, however, but too often made the certain means to secure her own ruin.

"Alas! the love of woman, it is known
To be a lovely and a fearful thing,
For all of hers upon that die is thrown,
And, if she lose, life hath no more to bring
To her but mockeries of the past, alone."

He, who would rob female purity of the virtue, which clothes her as with a garment of loveliness, is a monster whose shadow should not long be allowed to blight the beauty of earth with its accursed presence. If this be so, what retribution were sufficient for the wretch who, donning with sacriligious hand the awful mantle of the Seer, in impious profanation of holy offices and in the august name of the Most High, dares to enunciate heresies which, at one fell sweep, destroy the holiest affections of the human heart, strip woman of her high estate and drag her down to the level of unreasoning brutes; seeking to make of her a thing, that those who from her life blood draw their being, would disown in the bitterness of shame? Such a fatal heresy is polygamy, nor do we denounce it in terms stronger than its infamy deserves.

During our sojourn in Utah, it has been our fortune to meet with many victims of this accursed creed on whose features were legibly written the silent suffering, the cankering care, which was devouring them day by day. We have yet to meet the woman, worthy of the name, whose inmost soul did not revolt at the unnatural crime, or who did not instinctively and keenly feel the cruel outrage, which makes the sacred name of wife a title of dishonor. We know not, nor wish to know, the ways, crooked and untraveled, by which woman may be persuaded to so far forget her nature as willingly to assume a condition of such degradation. We know, most certainly, no true woman, with a full knowledge of the inevitable result, could be so persuaded. The Mohamedan peoples his harem with captives, purchased with stores of gold, but, even there, slavery precedes that servitude, which ministers to unhallowed passions. It was reserved for the modern apostles of polygamy, among Mormons, to succeed in deluding their victims with the devilish idea, that their glory in the next world depends upon their degradation in this. Those gross minds, in which such a monstrous purpose could find conception, must needs be possessed of imaginations equally base, and, therefore, none should feel surprise in hearing their public discourse embellished with obscene hints and coarse allusions, which force nature's self to resent the indecent reproach, by calling the conscious blush of shame to female cheeks, already only too familiar with the licensed language of lechery. Herein may be discovered the means used to dull the edge of that native delicacy in woman, which is her chief guardian; for this most watchful sentinel of virtue once removed from the path of their purposes, there is little left to oppose the consummation.

We cannot follow this theme into the depths where it descends but, nevertheless, must not consent to silence when to preserve it were little less than crime. To woman we look for that purity of mind and those finer sentiments, whose influence elevates society to more perfect degrees of refinement; and with the women of Utah rests, in no small degree, the redemption of society here from that infamy, which not only makes them its victims, but will pursue their innocent offspring with a reproach, which hereafter may cause them in the bitterness of their souls to curse the authors of their being.

Glory Hallelujah! Utah Regenerated!! The People Redeemed from Priestly Oppression!!! Everything Looks Lovely and Utah's Marching on.

Our readers will understand that the silver lodes in Rush Valley, thirty-eight miles from Salt Lake City, have not been developed to any extent, for want of capital. The owners have simply scratched the surface for specimens. A few enterprizing gentlemen, however, being determined to ascertain what their claims contained, run a short tunnel on the Great Basin lode and struck the legde, three feet wide, about thirty feet from the surface, on the 12th inst., and are now taking out as rich rock as can be found on the Pacific coast. It is exactly similar to the Hope rock of Egan Cañon, which assays five thousand dollars to the ton. The surface of the Great Basin ledge was but ten inches wide and two-thirds galena. The latter has entirely disappeared, and the specimens before us has the appearance of being two-thirds sulphurets. We regret that in all Utah there is not an assayer, else we would have the specimens in our possession tested. The Great Basin is supposed to be an extension of the celebrated Quandary lode, and the present rich strike was made not eighty feet from the prospect hole on the latter. It is fully demonstrated now, that the galena will entirely disappear in the Rush Valley mines in a distance of from thirty to fifty feet from the surface, and in its stead will be found rich sulphurets of silver, not surpassed by any on the continent.

We suggest to the laymen of Utah to celebrate the 12th of January, in future, as the anniversary of their deliverance from the galling rule of false prophets and priestly imposters.

Our Camp was honored on Saturday evening with a selection of Poetical Readings, by Mr. Stark, the justly celebrated tragedian. Mr. Stark's recitations are of that higher order that meets with the appreciation and approbation of an intelligent audience. His gestures, tone and delivery speak for the labor and study which has been by him bestowed, and for the proficiency which he has attained. He is a polished reader and an accomplished actor.

We most deeply regret that his stay among us is so brief, as an hundred nights could be profitably and pleasntly enjoyed with his appearance upon the dramatic boards.

The Savannah Republican says the members of the Georgia State Legislature lately made a perfect stampede.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETTE.]

New York, Jan. 13th.

By the China, from Liverpool December 31st:

The Times, in alluding to the present attitude of the North towards Canada, says: In the present state of northern feeling there is too much reason to apprehend some outrage which may render the rupture inevitable. Americans neither appreciate the strength of England nor understand the unanimity with which the war would be prosecuted if forced upon that reluctant government and nation. The first result of war would be the immediate and irrevocable establishment of southern independence.

New York, Jan. 13th.

The Arago, from Port Royal, brings reports of importance, (if true.) It is said that several counties in Georgia recently held elections which were declared as in favor of their return to the Union, by an overwhelming majority. It is also said that the people are arming to protect themselves from secessionists. Gov. Brown is said to be the principal promoter of these movements, and that he has disbanded the Georgia militia, who have returned to their homes.

The steamer Melville, of New York for Hilton Head, foundered at sea on the 7th; forty-eight passengers were lost.

The steamer Costa Rica sailed to-day. Among her passengers are Gen. Sickles and staff, also Fred. McCrelish, of the Alta California.

The overland mail of December 12th and 14th arrived this morning.

Halifax, Jan. 13th.

The blockade runner Chameleon, late the Tallahassee, is under arrest at Bermuda. The blockade runner Col. Lamb, is at Nassau undergoing repairs. There are now nine blockade runners at Bermuda. Out of seventy-one blockade runners visiting Bermuda in the past year, forty-three have been lost.

Washington, Jan. 14th.

The Richmond Whig of the 12th says: The War Department last night was without a single dispatch from any quarter, the telegraph, owing to the heavy rains, not working. The James river is considerrbly over its banks and unless the weather turns suddenly cold a freshet may be expected equal to that of last spring.

The Richmond Despatch of the 12th says: It was reported yesterday that Mr. Blair, the Yankee peace commissioner, arrived during the day and had an interview with the President and Secretary of War. He has not, we are assured, come to the city. It is untrue that the Secretary of War has sent him a pass to visit Richmond.

In the Confederate House of Representatives on Wednesday, Miles, of South Carolina, introduced the following resolutions, which were ordered printed:

Resolved, That under the Constitution Congress alone has the right to declare war, and the President, by and with the consent of the Senate, to make a treaty of peace.

Resolved, That all attempts to make peace with the United States by action or intervention of separate States comprising the Confederacy, are unauthorized by the Constitution and in contravention of the supreme law of the land, and, therefore, revolutionary.

New York, Jan. 14th.

The Norfolk Old Dominion says: The expedition up the Savannah river destroyed ten miles of the South Carolina and Columbia Railroad. A company of South Carolina militia was captured by Foster, near Hardeeville; they had been two weeks in service and did not like war.

New York, Jan. 14th.

The ship Geo. Peabody sailed from New York on the 13th, for San Francisco.

Sailed from Boston, the 12th, the brig Commodore, for San Francisco.

New York, Jan. 14th.

By the Ocean Queen we have Panama dates to the 5th.

The town of Esmeralda, Equador, was nearly destroyed by fire, on the 9th ult.—loss, $100,000.

No news of importance from the States in the interior.

A letter from Valparaiso, the 14th, says the Spanish Peru question appears to be more intricate than ever. Commanders of the Peruvian fleet have informed their President that they can't cope with the Spaniards.

A Callao letter, of the 20th, states the Spanish fleet has been reinforced by three ships of war.

The Panama Star and Herald says, it learns that all restrictions are being removed by the Japanese treaty. Large quantities of silk are accumulated at Yeddo and have arrived at Kanagara. European merchants were congratulating themselves on the improved prospects of business.

Washington, Jan. 14th.

Information was received at the Navy Department, from Acting Master Gillespie, of the U. S bark Brazil, on duty on St. Amons Sound, Georgia, that the boats of that vessel have made incursions inland destroying the salt works situated eight miles up the Parde river on the creeks leading into the Buffalo swamps. The enemy's force in that portion of the country consists of one hundred soldiers and seventy-five militia. The boats also liberated thirty negroes and captured a number of prisoners.

A refugee who left Richmond two weeks ago says the report that Lee has sent troops to meet Sherman in South Carolina is confirmed.

New York, Jan. 14th.

The World's special says: It is probable the President will issue a supplementary proclamation after the fall of Charleston increasing the number and grade of officers, excluded from the amnesty, after a certain date, informing Jeff Davis and his supporters if they hold out long enough to complete the raising of an another army, no amnesty whatever will be given, but if they lay down their arms they will be magnanamously treated.

A Savannah letter says: The recent successful expedition up the Savannah river, for the destruction of the Charleston and Columbia railroad, is a part of the grand project for the complete isolation of Richmond.

It was reported at Fortress Monroe that the proper authorities had gone to Georgia for the purpose of settling the terms on which Georgia can return to the Union, and may proceed thence to North Carolina.

St. Louis, Jan. 14th.

Gov. Fletcher, issued a proclamation to-day declaring Missouri a free state, in accordance with the emancipation ordinance passed by the State Convention.

The expedition sent from Cape Girardeau to the Cherokee Bayou, a few days since, killed nineteen guerrillas, captured a number of prisoners and fifty horses.

Nashville, Jan. 14th.

The Union Convention in its session today, nominated W. G. Brownlow, for Governor, by acclamation.

Washington, Jan. 13th.

In the House, Ashley moved and it was agreed that after to-day the further consideration of anti-slavery and the constitutional amendment be postponed for two weeks from Tuesday next.

Cole introduced a bill on the amendment of the Pacific Railroad Act, ratifying the assignment made by the Central Pacific Railroad Company of California to the Western Pacific Railroad Company, requiring the said road to complete twenty-five miles yearly, and the whole line from San Jose to Sacramento in four years.

Hubbard, of Iowa, introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to institute geographical surveys of the Black Hills in Dacotah, and appropriate $20.000 for that purpose.

The Government received information last evening, that in attempting to escape from rebeldom and enter our line, Senator Foote was arrested by two rebel cavalrymen at Occognan, fifteen miles southwest of Alexandria. Mrs. Foote, wife of the Senator, escaped and reached Alexandria this afternoon. Fears are entertained that Jeff Davis may deal harshly with Foote. It is understood that our Government has taken steps to prevent any injury being done him.

New York, Jan. 14th

The Herald's Savannah correspondent of the 8th, represents affairs in that city quiet and unchanged, and reiterates the reports of yesterday relative to the movements among the citizens of Georgia for re-union. The correspondent says they need confirmation. Nearly all the traders of Savannah have taken the oath of allegiance. Great suffering among the poor still continues, and to a considerable degree among the wealthy. General Sherman's entire army was being reclothed and equipped.

The Tribune's Washington special gives it as his opinion of the old hand at peace negotiations, that the cessation of hostilities preliminary to formal negotiations will take place within ten days.

It is understood the President has declared that if Senator Foote is harmed by the rebels he will bring five of the most distinguished rebel prisoners in our hands to grief. Our cavalry have been ordered to pursue Foote and his captors.

The Tribune announces the release of its correspondent, Richardson, who has been held by the rebels for over eight months.

The World has information from Mexico confirming the previous reports of success by the Republicans over the Imperialists, in the several battles. The [illegible] was an uprising of the people and free insurrection is increasing. It is said the Papal Nuncio and Arch Bishop are about to leave the country on account of Maximillan's manifesto concerning the church property.

Richmond papers continue growling over their leaders. They think Jeff Davis' course is reprehensible, and also make an onslaught on Kirby Smith, who is now discovered to possess none of the attributes of a great general. Hood's failures in Tennessee and Georgia is attributed to the disgust of the people of those states for the Confederacy, and none but Lee and Johnson appear to give satisfaction.

The Herald's Washington special says Blair has not returned to Washington. Gen. Singleton probably reached Richmond on Friday.

The Wilmington Journal inquires how the junior reserves of North Carolina were captured before Fort Fisher. It appears that a Yankee captain, with five men, met one hundred and fifty of the reserves, under Maj. Reese, and commanded the Major to surrender, telling him there was no use of resisting, as he was surrounded. One lieutenant refused to surrender and walked off with twelve men, but the Major was the victim of the transparent sell. As the Journal says, he surrendered with his 150 men to six Yankees and these men were marched into our lines carrying their own arms, loaded and capped.

Cincinnati, Jan. 14th.

The Commercial's Nashville dispatch says: The Convention unanimously passed resolutions declaring slavery forever abolished and prohibited throughout the state, also a resolution prohibiting the Legislature from recognizing the right of property in man and forbidding it from requiring compensation to be made to owners, and abrogating the declaration of state independence by the military league made in sixty-one with the Confederate States, and all laws and ordinances made in pursuance of them. All officers appointed by the acting Governor, since his accession to office, are confirmed, and propositions are to be submitted to the people for their ratification on February 22d, and on March 4th an election is to be held for Governor. In the Legislature nearly 300 delegates participated in a final vote, and the greatest harmony and good feeling prevailed throughout. Parson Brownlow is the unanimous choice of the Convention for the next Governor.

Miscellaneous Items.

The What Cheer House, San Francisco, came near being destroyed by fire recently, by ashes being thrown from the back door among loose straw.

It is said that the Superintendent of the House of Refuge in New York has recently being enlisting the boys of the institution, in the army, without the parents consent.

Mrs. Wood, the celebrated actress has created a sensation among her admirers by appearing on Broadway, New York, with a velvet jocky hat with a scarlet feather.

President Lincoln, with his usual firmness and wise judgement, declares himself as unyielding in the emancipation of slavery proclarion.

A letter from on board the U. S. steamer Osceola, giving an account of the chase of a blockade runner, says her smoke from burning soft coal, was discovered before the vessel could be seen, fifteen miles distant. "These blockade runners, being compelled to burn soft coal, their black smoke is plainly visible at long distances; while our cruisers, using anthracite coal, make but little if any smoke, and that hardly distinguishable." This is an advantage which our ships of war will always have at sea, and it is a very considerable one in cruising at sea, if our ships only have speed equal to any vessel they are in pursuit of or are trying to avoid. Long before they can be seen they may become aware of the presence of European steamers, which usually burn soft coal and can shape their course accordingly.

Local Matters.

The detachments of companies A, H, and L, 2d Cav., C. V., and of companies H, G, E, F and K, 3d Inf., C. V., who left Camp Douglas on the 27th of October last, arrived at Camp Union, Sacramento, on or about the 1st of Jan., where they will be mustered out as their term of service expires.

A PATRIOTIC SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The Bulletin thus describes a patriotic incident of Christmas in San Francisco:

The Sunday School of the First Congregational Church in this city, numbering about four hundred scholars and teachers, is the only one, we believe, that did not have its Christmas Tree and distribution of gifts; and why it did not have them is a story worth telling. The Superintendent of the School, a week ago last Sabbath, addressed the scholars and teachers on the subject of the war which he told them is being waged to preserve the unity, peace and freedom of our country, and asked them how they would feel at its successful close to reflect that they had lived in comfort in California and did nothing to help to achieve the happy result. If they should chance to visit the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, how would their hearts reproach them if they had to confess they had never done anything to help the brave soldiers who gave their lives for the country. Then, he asked, wouldn't it not be better to forego the usual Christmas Tree, and give the money it would cost to the Christian Commission for the sick and wounded soldiers? He knew the delights of the pleasant custom he asked them to pass over, and he pictured them in warm colors to test the feelings of the school before putting it to the test of a decisive vote. He then asked all who were in favor of contributing to Christmas Tree to rise. Not one teacher or child rose! He then asked all who were in favor of contributing the cost of a tree to the soldiers to rise, and the whole school was on their feet in a minute. And so the Christmas contributions of this Sunday School, amounting to several hundreds of dollars, were diverted from the toy and candy shops to the Soldiers' Relief Fund.
